To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to wholeheartedly recommend Ed for any future opportunities or career advancement. I have had the pleasure of working alongside Ed for over a year, and in that time, he has shown himself to be an incredibly talented and driven Software Engineer. His progression from a Software Engineer 1 to a level 2 developer is something I have seen firsthand and is well-deserved.

Ed is one of the most skilled developers I have ever had the pleasure of working with. He possesses a rare combination of raw talent and an unrelenting hunger for knowledge. He approaches every challenge with an open mind and an eagerness to learn, always pushing himself outside of his comfort zone. Whether it's mastering new technologies or learning unfamiliar frameworks, Ed consistently demonstrates an admirable willingness to grow.

What sets Ed apart is his ability to remain calm under pressure. Even when production systems are in crisis or deadlines are looming, he maintains a cool head, handles stressful situations efficiently, and ensures that tasks are completed to the highest standard. His calm demeanor makes him a true asset to the team in difficult moments.

Not only has Ed contributed greatly to our team with his technical skills, but he has also been a collaborative and supportive colleague. His ability to challenge the status quo in a constructive way has helped improve our processes and allowed the entire team to grow. His SQL skills have improved tremendously, and he has eagerly embraced new technologies like Entity Framework. I've personally learned a great deal from him, especially when it comes to working with EF Core, and I am grateful for the knowledge he has shared.

On a personal level, Ed has been one of my favorite co-workers in my six years as a developer. Working alongside him has been an incredibly rewarding experience both professionally and personally. I have grown significantly in my career because of the way he challenges and inspires me, and I am confident that anyone who has the opportunity to work with him will experience similar growth.

In summary, Ed is a highly skilled, motivated, and dependable software engineer who has proven himself beyond his current level. I am confident that he will continue to excel in his career and make a meaningful impact wherever he goes.

Please feel free to contact me if you would like any additional information.

Sincerely,

Seth Walton
